OPTIVOR RECOGNIZED AS BALTIMORE AREA'S 6th LARGEST WOMAN-OWNED COMPANY

Annapolis Junction, MD – Optivor Technologies, LLC has been recognized by the Baltimore Business Journal as one of Baltimore's Largest Woman-Owned Companies. Optivor was ranked #6, based on 2013 revenues for companies in the Baltimore area.

Optivor has been a Maryland company since 2001, achieving woman-owned status in January, 2013. Optivor's client list includes the U.S. Government, and thousands of state, local and commercial organizations.

According to Dearest E. Chandler, Optivor Managing Director, "Optivor was recognized by the BBJ three times this year. Earlier this year, we made the list of Largest Telecommunications Firms, and the list of Top Private Companies. This year, we are particularly pleased to be recognized as one of Maryland's Largest Woman-Owned Companies."

For the past few years, Dearest Chandler has been building and refining Optivor's quality management plan and quality programs, along with defining operational procedures. Ms. Chandler has a Masters in Technical Management, and will play a critical role in defining Optivor's future.

Chandler added, "We are pursuing larger opportunities globally, and have made significant investments in our ability to compete and deliver. We expect to start realizing some of our strategic investments in late 2014."
